

Biography

Chris Delisio

Currently the Assistant Vice President for Development and Chief Advancement Officer for the College of Arts and Sciences. In this role he overseeing the day-to-day and strategic management of the development operation within the constituent units at The Ohio State University and oversees the Advancement Team in the College of Arts and Sciences. Additionally, he provides comprehensive leadership and oversight for the College of Food, Agricultural and Environmental Sciences; the Wexner Center for the Arts, WOSU Public Media and the University Libraries.

Prior experience was as the Chief Advancement Officer for the College of Food, Agricultural and Environmental Sciences leading the development and alumni operations within the College. During that time the College enjoyed three consecutive record-breaking fundraising years. This success helped the College surpass its $150,000,000 campaign goal as part of the “But For Ohio State Campaign”.

Has worked previously at The Ohio State University Comprehensive Cancer Center-James Cancer Hospital and Solove Research Institute, Ohio Wesleyan University, Ohio University and the University of Dayton.

Education: Bachelor of Arts degree from Hiram College and a Masters of Business Administration from Kent State University.