

Biography

Rick Rocchetti

Rick is a member of the NTL Institute for the Applied Behavioral Sciences. He is also the Organization Development and Training Manager for the City of Raleigh, where he is the lead change agent helping the City address the major transformational challenges of becoming a mid-sized city, becoming more participative, increasing service responsiveness, implementing an Enterprise Resource Planning process and dealing with the issues of succession and talent development. In addition to leading his development staff and in partnering with six trainers from other departments, he is also responsible for over 20 consultants in addressing these challenges

His academic background includes undergraduate degrees in Management and Marketing from Bluefield State College, dual Master's degrees in Religious Education (Adult Education) from Fordham University and Organization Development (AU/NTL) from The American University.

Rick has held positions of responsibility in a variety of organizations, from the City of Raleigh to GlaxoWellcome (now GlaxoSmithKline) and from the Catholic Diocese of Raleigh to JM Family Enterprises (Toyota and Lexus Distributorship for the Southeast).

He is also an independent consultant whose work focuses on leadership development, executive coaching, strategy, culture and teams. His client list includes Duke Corporate Education, Price Waterhouse Coopers, Kenan Institute for Ethics, GlaxoSmithKline, Gilead Sciences, Novozymes NA, Stiefel Pharmaceuticals, Ryder Logistics and Transportation Solutions Worldwide, Red Hat, North Carolina State University, University of North Carolina at Chapel Hill, the Carolina Center for Public Service, the Sonja J. Stone Center, Morehead Planetarium, TRIO, HCAP and the Maternal and Child Health Public Health Center), Wake Forest University, North Carolina Department of Revenue and the Auto Sport Gallery.

His strategic alliances include ties with Duke Corporate Education, the Duke Fuqua School of Business, Leading Solutions East, One World Music, Creative Leaders, Inc., Kenan Institute for Ethics and First Step Management (UK) in order to deliver products and services to a wider audience.

He is on the board of the Learning Consortium. He volunteers at the Shepherd's Table Soup Kitchen and is a coach for the Caldwell Fellows Program at NCSU. He and his wife have one daughter.
