

Danielle Hennis
Make It Memorable

Danielle Hennis, founder of Make it Memorable, is a presentation consultant, graphic designer, and teacher. She uses her background in psychology and graphic design to help clients take their complex ideas and turn them into powerful presentations, lessons, and visual stories. She specializes in designing memorable and influential slides that help the audience gain a deeper understanding of the topic.

When Danielle isn't working with clients on their presentations, she's teaching graphic design, social media marketing, and advertising at Wake Technical Community College.
